To whom it may concern,

While I have only known [REDACTED] for two years, I can certainly attest to her growth in responsibility and leadership. I have not only been her Latin teacher for those two years, but also she has worked with me in the altar serving ministry that I am in charge of.

While in Latin class, [REDACTED] has been attentive to her studies, and is not afraid to ask questions when she is confused. She always brings joy into the classroom, and contributes well to our in class discussions, whether that be in a chapter of The Screwtape Letters or a translation we are doing in class. Her helpfulness, however, is a quality that shines through the most in class. She is always willing to help classmates out, especially on difficult translations, and declensions.

Outside of the classroom, [REDACTED] is best described as a renaissance woman. She is in multiple clubs, has tried her hand in sports, and helps out in church. It seems there is nothing she cannot do. While in the Church, [REDACTED] is very helpful in altar serving, and helping out in the sacristy. She has become one of my right hand servers, who is willing to help train younger servers, altar serve complex liturgies, and help prepare the altar and sacristy for Mass.

[REDACTED] will fit in well at Pope John Paul II and will succeed at whatever she puts her head to, so long as she keeps her personality of service, which I am sure she will.

If you have any questions, feel free to reach out to me at h.mcleod@spsdfw.org

Pax et bonum,

Henry McLeod

SAINT PAUL
THE APOSTLE CATHOLIC CHURCH

To Whom It May Concern,

As the Middle School Youth Coordinator, [REDACTED] was a confirmation student at St. Paul School this year. She is a school altar server and, she is involved in our monthly confirmation meetings and confirmation school activities.

[REDACTED] is always involved with the school confirmations activities. Every time she come to class; she always conducts herself as a leader. She is always participating, and she always exited to be in the class. I recommend [REDACTED] because she has showed that she has a big heart and a big desire to learn more about her faith. [REDACTED] always shows a great respect for the church, and she takes very seriously our school confirmation classes.

It's been a pleasure in knowing [REDACTED] and watch her grow in her faith and character. I believe she shows all the qualities required to get a scholarship.

Thank you so much for your time.

Sincerely,

Hector Abreu
Coordinator Of Middle School Youth Ministry

To The Knights Of Columbus Council 12021:

I have taught [REDACTED] for almost one full year now.

It has been beautiful to watch [REDACTED] grow in her Catholic Faith over the past year. She pays attention and works hard in my class, and she has definitely grown in her reverence for the Eucharist since September. Earlier this month, after much preparation and prayer, [REDACTED] was confirmed in her Catholic Faith.

Her family is also very supportive of her faith. I have seen them come out to support her countless times, and they care deeply for her formation in the faith. They consistently attend Mass on Sundays, and they encourage [REDACTED] to grow in her devotion to and love for Christ.

[REDACTED] [REDACTED] is generous, courteous, and perseverant, and I believe she would represent the Knights of Columbus scholarship well.

Yours In Christ,
